seeding innovation

Since the inception of the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia in 1978, we have developed and deployed millions of dollars in philanthropy to respond to the most critical needs of our community.

In 2016, the Community Foundation responded to need in some surprising and new ways. This year we made $4.6 million in grants, of which $687,177 was in discretionary funding to support local nonprofits. For example, with the help of our amazing donors, the Community Foundation funded the Capital Area Food Bank to help launch a “Family Market” at Manassas Park High School that helped feed more than 300 families in Manassas Park over the course of 10 months.

But the launch of our Innovation Fund in 2013 catapulted the Community Foundation into a new era. Today we do far more than respond to need. We now seed innovation by investing in some of the most important initiatives, nonprofits, schools and ideas that have the potential to transform our region.

Our focus on the growth and impact of the Innovation Fund resulted in significant milestone achievements for the Community Foundation in 2016. With the help of a generous donor who offered a $250,000 matching gift, the Community Foundation built a $500,000 endowment for the Innovation Fund, creating a permanent source of “venture philanthropy” for Northern Virginia.

A grant from the Innovation Fund in 2016 helped launch new CyberPatriot clubs in Fairfax County middle schools. This grant was made in partnership with the Foundation for Fairfax County Public Schools, which leveraged its own donor base to match, dollar for dollar, the Innovation Fund grant for greater impact. The Innovation Fund sponsored the NoVa Mini Maker Faire for the third year in a row, which was attended by thousands of local residents who are interested in grass roots innovation. A grant from the Innovation Fund also launched a new civic engagement program for middle schoolers in Prince William County schools that taught its student participants how to become effective citizen advocates with local elected officials.

The Community Foundation has continued to contribute to the thought leadership in the region. We launched the Innovation Breakfast Series in 2016 to shine a light on the intersection between philanthropy and innovation. These breakfasts have featured fascinating national and local speakers who brought amazing stories and new perspectives to help elucidate the ever-growing role philanthropy plays in economic development and business innovation. Philanthropy’s impact in this realm seems limited only by the imagination of the funders and their willingness to seed innovative ideas that have the potential to create positive change.

Growing philanthropy to help meet critical needs, bolster children in need, drive economic and workforce development initiatives, and find innovative solutions to complex social issues is our mission and our passion. We are your Community Foundation, serving you, building community, and very pleased to share our work and impact in this Annual Report.

seeding a permanent source of innovation: THE INNOVATION FUND ENDOWMENT

Thanks to the support and commitment of many generous individuals in Northern Virginia, the Community Foundation successfully raised $500,000 to establish an endowment for its Innovation Fund, a source of venture philanthropy that invests in innovative programs to help diversify the local economy, give local students a leg up as they navigate their education and future careers, and address complex social issues in new, creative ways.

In early 2016, an anonymous donor challenged the Community Foundation with a $250,000 matching gift to build this endowment. The community rose to the challenge with more than 60 individual and corporate donors contributing to the campaign. An estimated $25,000 from the income this endowment will generate will be available each year beginning in 2018 to make impactful grants.

The Innovation Fund launched in 2013. It uses a "venture philanthropy" model of grant making in which donors to it, in partnership with Community Foundation board and staff, find investment opportunities in Northern Virginia that help diversify the local economy, level the playing field for disadvantaged youth, and promote grass roots innovation.

The establishment of this Innovation Fund Endowment provides us with the flexibility to invest in innovative programs and initiatives and allows us to be an active participant in shaping the region's future.

DONOR FEATURE

"I was honored to be one of the many contributors to the Community Foundation's Innovation Fund Endowment. It represents a renewed effort to search out and accelerate innovation and entrepreneurship in a region which is typically averse to risk. With this endowment, the Fund has the potential to support new and creative ideas and programs, forever spurring innovation in Northern Virginia."

— Brian Jacoby, President of Nova Labs, Innovation Fund Supporter

INNOVATION BREAKFAST series launched

In 2016, the Community Foundation launched the Innovation Breakfast Series to introduce new ideas about the issues facing the Northern Virginia region and the role that innovation and philanthropy can play in addressing them.

The first program was held in May 2016 — Building Community Through Venture Philanthropy. It featured a keynote address by Melissa Bradley, Director of Sustainable Entrepreneurship and Innovation Initiatives and Executive in Residence at the Kogod School of Business at American University, and a panel including Todd Hitt of Kiddar Capital, Henry Berman of Exponent Philanthropy, and Doug Wright of Prince William County Public Schools.

Access National Bank is the sole sponsor of the Innovation Breakfast Series, supporting this important initiative and engaging its employees and its clients in local philanthropy. Access National Bank sees the Innovation Breakfast Series as an opportunity to engage in community dialogue, learn about innovative approaches to solve complex issues, and network with 150-200 community leaders in the business, non-profit and government sectors all working together to build community in Northern Virginia.

The Community Foundation now holds three Innovation Breakfasts each year in January, May and September.

innovation fund expands support OF CYBER SECURITY PROGRAMS

In 2016, the Community Foundation's Innovation Fund made a challenge grant of $25,000 to the Foundation for Fairfax County Public Schools, the philanthropic arm of the County's public school system, to launch CyberPatriot, an afterschool youth cyber education program created and hosted by the U.S. Air Force Association. The Foundation for Fairfax County Public Schools secured a matching $25,000 grant from a variety of sources, including the Fairfax Economic Forum, Apple Federal Credit Union, and Oracle. With the combined power of both foundations' philanthropy, a total of 11 CyberPatriot clubs in Fairfax County middle schools will be created over a two year period, serving more than 125 students. Grant funds were used to purchase curriculum kits and computer equipment and to provide teacher training and stipends for club instructors.

CyberPatriot encourages more students to study cybersecurity and gain exposure to these 21st century learning skills. As Virginia Governor Terry McAuliffe said recently, one of the most important catalysts for long-term economic growth in Virginia will come from the burgeoning cybersecurity sector. Enabling students to learn more about this growing field at an earlier age will assist workforce development efforts across the entire Commonwealth.

Last year, the Community Foundation made a similar challenge grant to launch a cybersecurity course of study in Potomac High School in Prince William County. That program is now offered to students in additional schools in Prince William, and Prince William County officials are working with other local jurisdictions in Northern Virginia to help them launch similar programs.

The Community Foundation would like to thank the Haymarket Fund, the Chin Family Charitable Fund, and the JPS Fund, three donor advised funds at the Community Foundation that have steadfastly and enthusiastically supported the Community Foundation's Innovation Fund and its work.

“We are delighted to be able to work with the Community Foundation on this endeavor for our students. Fairfax County Public Schools is a CyberPatriot Center of Excellence, and to expand the program into middle schools is exactly the kind of work that the Foundation was established to do. Our goals are to excite more students into pursuing higher level cyber courses and perhaps a career in this growing field.”

INNOVATIVE CIVIC ENGAGEMENT program launched

In December of 2015, a $23,000 grant to SPARK, the Education Foundation of Prince William County Public Schools, created and launched a new civic engagement program for 150-200 eighth grade students across Prince William. The program is designed to teach students how their local, state and federal governments work, to give them an understanding of how to change public policy, and to offer hands-on experience researching and debating current issues in the community.

The after-school program included workshops and sessions in which the students identified a problem to study, gathered information, examined solutions, developed a public policy, and created an action plan to influence the appropriate government or governmental agency to adopt the proposed policy. Students took a private tour of the state capital in Richmond during the year. They also visited the White House and greeted WWII veterans in Washington, D.C., who were on a visit to the WWII memorial. The program culminated with final presentations to government officials or agencies responsible for implementing the new policy.

The Community Foundation funded this new Civic Engagement Program in Prince William County Public Schools because we believe it will both teach and encourage active citizen engagement with all levels of government. The program offered a unique opportunity in a hands on setting for the students to acquire a much deeper understanding and appreciation of the role of government in our society and their own individual capacity as active citizens to influence the course of events.

This grant was made possible through the Haymarket Fund, a donor advised fund at the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia that supports families and children with an emphasis on health, education, community development and improvement, and arts and culture.

“This program has provided students in Prince William County Public Schools with a great opportunity to engage in their communities and gain a better understanding of the civic responsibility we all share. Without the support of the Community Foundation, we would not have been able to provide such a meaningful opportunity to our students.”

— Jeff Girvan, Supervisor of History & Social Science, Office of Student Learning, Prince William County Schools

innovative family market program HELPS HUNGRY FAMILIES IN MANASSAS

It was the nurse at Manassas Park High School, Anne Shaw, who first noticed that too many of the school system's students were coming to school hungry. So she called the Capital Area Food Bank (CAFB) to ask for help. Responding to the call, CAFB determined that Manassas Park High School would be an ideal location for a Family Market, a food delivery system created and implemented by Cecilia Vergaretti and her team at CAFB. But CAFB needed help funding the new initiative, so they called the Community Foundation.

When we learned of the need in Manassas Park schools and the opportunity to partner with the CAFB on a new Family Market there, we pulled together a coalition of funders and were able to award two grants of $32,000 each to bring the CAFB's Family Market to Manassas Park High School for both the 2015-2016 and the 2016-2017 school years. The Community Foundation's grants enabled the CAFB to offer 12,000 pounds of food to over 300 families, once a month for nine months during the school year, in a community where almost 60% of the student population qualifies for free and reduced fee lunches.

The "Family Market" model is like a pop-up food pantry located on the school's premises. It combines food distribution with parent-teacher interactions, health screenings, community information, and nutrition education. Schools teachers use the Family Market to offer free backpacks, school books, and winter clothing. Each family takes home between 28 and 30 pounds of non-perishable food, frozen meat and fresh produce during a single Family Market event. Parents can learn some fresh produce preparation ideas through cooking demonstrations that take place during the event. Recipe cards in both Spanish and English are available. A green smoothie bike is on premises during the Family Market as well to make the experience fun for all ages.

We do nothing alone at the Community Foundation. Our partnerships with the Manassas Park Schools, the CAFB, and the Community Foundation donors who helped fund this critical community need are a testament to community based giving at its very best.

The Community Foundation would like to thank the J.O.Y Charitable Fund and the Nolan Family Charitable Fund, two donor advised funds at the Community Foundation, along with QMT Windchimes, for their collective, impactful, and ongoing support of the Family Market in Manassas Park High School.

"I was startled when I saw a recent statistic stating nearly 60% of Manassas Park students qualify for free or reduced fee lunch. We can't begin to solve the myriad other problems we face until basic needs are being met. Witnessing what the CAFB 'village' accomplishes with their Family Markets was inspiring and heart-warming."

Northern Virginia board member

INNOVATIVE RELATIONSHIPS WITH NONPROFITS: first tuesdays

In an effort to build stronger relationships with our community based nonprofits, the Community Foundation launched First Tuesdays – an open, co-learning opportunity for Community Foundation staff to meet with local nonprofit leaders and discuss the issues and challenges they face.

These meetings were designed to build relationships, share information, brainstorm ideas, and discover new approaches or new ways of tackling community issues in a neutral, relaxed setting.

Over the course of the year, we discovered that many nonprofits face the same challenges across our entire region. We were able to make connections, propose partnerships and collaborations amongst organizations and suggest resources through local colleges, universities and government offices that could benefit those with the greatest need.

But above all, we listened and learned, leaving us with a deeper understanding of local needs and an even deeper appreciation for the accomplishments and dedication of our brilliant and innovative nonprofit leaders.

“The Community Foundation for Northern Virginia launched its First Tuesdays discussions with nonprofit leaders to gain insights about community challenges, emerging trends and innovative solutions. The initiative was empowering for our organization, and demonstrates the Foundation’s commitment to understanding the issues that matter to our sector and community at large, and to partner in responding to those needs.”

innovation through collective philanthropy: OUR GIVING CIRCLES

The Community Foundation offers four giving circles that pool their resources to support causes they care about. Members of these circles increase the impact of their individual contributions by educating themselves on the needs of the region and reviewing grant applications. And, as a bonus, they are able to broaden their professional networks and their personal circle of friends!

FUTURE FUND

The Future Fund is a giving circle of young professionals at the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia. Members of the Future Fund connect with each other personally and professionally, learn about the critical needs of our region, and donate to the causes they care about at affordable levels.

In 2016, Future Fund awarded $30,000 support organizations offering academic summer programs to low-income students entering grades K-6; bringing the total amount awarded since its inception to $223,000.

Funding supported service coordination and navigation assistance for veterans and military personnel and families in Northern Virginia for the third year.

healthy kids grants supports efforts made by public schools in Northern Virginia to improve activity level and nutrition of kids throughout the region in collaboration with the Chin Family Charitable Fund.

Belmont Elementary School - Eagles on the Move, $1,500
Prince William County

The Eagles on the Move program increased physical activity and achievement of 50-75 third to fifth graders by using movement activities and exercise while learning health and nutrition facts.

Cameron Elementary School - Vegetable/Fruit of the Month, $1,500
Fairfax County

This project encouraged children to live a healthy lifestyle by promoting and teaching better nutrition habits among the K-6 student population. The outcome of this project was to make children appreciate the taste of fruits and vegetables as well as their nutritional value.

Discovery Elementary - Discovery Wellness, Walk & Bike Initiatives Start-up, $2,000
Arlington County

This wellness initiative jump-started the holistic vision for this newly built school and all 555 students. The school design promotes movement while learning and this funding was necessary to get walking, biking, nutrition and healthy lifestyle activities off the ground.

Lake Anne Elementary School - Backpack Fitness, $1,500
Fairfax County

Lake Anne purchased backpacks and fitness materials for students to use over breaks and summer vacation. The school also purchased jump ropes, pedometers, balls, and other sports equipment to loan to students. Since 40% of the students receive free or reduced price meals, this was a huge area of need.

Herndon Elementary School - Girls Run Herndon, $1,300
Fairfax County

Girls Run Herndon is an after-school running club for girls in grades 3-6. The club focuses on increasing physical activity, as well as teaching the girls about proper running form, stretching, nutrition and positive self-image. The school offers two seasons a school year with about 40 girls per season.

John Adams Elementary School - Circus Extravaganza, $2,000
Alexandria

Funding provided Circus Arts (juggling, unicycling, balancing challenges, hand-eye coordination challenges, and a sense of belonging and confidence) to 150 second-through fifth graders.

Lynbrook Elementary School - Trailblazers Outdoor Exploration After-School Club, $1,000
Fairfax County

This after-school club increased physical activity for up to 20 kids, grades 4-6. It provides opportunities for title-1 low-income at-risk kids to learn fun outdoor exercises through team building games and activities such as biking, hiking, kayaking and fishing, while connecting to nature.

Parkside Middle School - Dancing Like Stars! $1,000
Prince William County

This project inspired physical activity through the practice of Ballroom Dance for approximately 1,000 7th grade students participating in a semester of dance instruction, or who completed ballroom dance in 2015. At semester's end, a formal Ball was held for all students and their parents.

Penn Elementary School - Penn Elementary School Trotters Running Club, $1,200
Prince William County

This project increased physical activity and improve strength among 50+ students in grades 3-5 by meeting twice a week for the entire 2015-2016 school year.

Potomac View Elementary School -
Let's Get Fit! $1,500

Prince William County

This project worked to improve the activity level of 85 boys and girls in 4th and 5th grades by running the Girls on the Run program for girls and a soccer program for the boys after school.

The program is in partnership with the school's feeder high school, whose soccer team will mentor the boys.

Rockledge Elementary PTA - Nutrition and Fitness Programs at Rockledge Elementary School, $1,500

Prince William County

Rockledge students and their families learned to cook healthy international meals with local ingredients, participated in free fitness events, and learned about ways to continue those activities via community resources.

Washington-Lee High School -
Pedometer Project-Taking Steps
Towards a Healthier Life, $1,000

Arlington County

This project increased awareness and movement among 300+ 9th graders by making them accountable for their step-counts throughout the day. It helped them understand the connection between calories in food and calories burned through exercise.

Westfield High School - Girl's Only Fitness Class, $2,000

Fairfax County

This class was formed to educate the female students at Westfield who are non-athletes on healthy diet and to encourage 60 minutes of activity every day to stay fit and healthy for the rest of their lives.

Woodbridge Middle School - Healthy Eating For Kids Club, $1,000

Prince William County

Healthy Eating For Kids Club at Woodbridge Middle School provided education regarding the increasing demand for locally produced foods, vegetables, and fish for health reasons amid the community's rapidly increasing population, obesity epidemic, and pollution levels.

Thank you to the 2015-2016

2015 COMMUNITY Leadership award

PRESENTED TO JIM WORDSWORTH
OF J.R.'S GOODTIMES, INC.

The Community Foundation's Community Leadership Award is presented annually for outstanding community service and dedication to improving the quality of life for all Northern Virginians. At the 2015 Community Foundation Gala, this prestigious award went to Jim Wordsworth, owner of J.R.'s Goodtimes, Inc.

Jim Wordsworth is one of Virginia's top business and community leaders. Born and raised in Rocky Mount, NC, Jim earned his Eagle Scout, God & Country and Order of the Arrow while working in his father's meat packing plant.

In 1974, Jim opened his first small business, J.R.'s Steak House, in Fairfax Virginia. Today, he is the owner of eight small businesses all in the Hospitality/Tourism industry.

Jim has been recognized for not only the quality of his business operations but for his community service. His steak house is a five-time winner of “Best Beef in Virginia,” a four-time winner of a national “Good Neighbor” award for community service, and was the “Most Benevolent Small Business” in 2000 according to the National Philanthropic Society.

Jim has always been involved with the issues affecting not only his industry, but business in general. Nationally, he has served on the U.S. Chamber Board of Directors and its Executive Committee. Additionally he chaired both the Chamber’s Small Business Council and the Labor Relations Committee. He also serves on the National Restaurant Association Board of Directors and as a Trustee on their Educational Foundation Board.

Jim served as Vice Chairman of the Virginia Tourism Corporation, a public private partnership between the Commonwealth of Virginia and the Hospitality/

Tourism industry. He has also chaired a number of other state and local organizations, including serving as the founding chairman of the Virginia Hospitality and Travel Association, as well as the Loudoun County and Fairfax County Convention and Visitors Bureaus.

A founding member of the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia’s board, Jim has also been a board member of United Cerebral Palsy of Northern Virginia and Washington DC, Inc. since 1982. He has been recognized as “Citizen of the Year,” “Restaurateur of the Year” (twice: DC Metro & Virginia), the McLean, Virginia Chamber “Business Person of the Year” and the Fairfax County Chamber “Corporate Citizen of the Year” for his service and contributions to the 4-H, YMCA, Little League, Scouting and the Virginia community in general. Recently the Virginia Hospitality & Travel Association renamed their annual Restaurateur of the Year award after Jim, and created an annual $1000 educational scholarship for the winner’s staff.

John Borden Memorial Scholarship - supports Computer Clubhouse members who are graduating seniors from Fairfax County Public Schools with a STEM-related degree objective and a record of giving back to the community.

“Our desire to close the Chapel Family Foundation and transfer the funds to the Community Foundation was driven primarily by the fact that the income generated by the funds would be used for worthwhile community projects rather than going into the coffers of a public bank. In addition, by using the Community Foundation we no longer had to file a yearly foundation tax return – thus saving us several thousand dollars each year that we could also use for charitable purposes.”

THE JOHN FRANKLIN HILLER MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

*I stare hushed from the stone window,
Looking out through layers of branches
Which slowly press themselves into a matte
Of tangled lines in the wilting light.*

(Excerpt from "Branches" written by John Hiller at Princeton University in 1985)

"With John's poetic promise cut short in 1993 by his death, our family desired to inspire another bright student at John's alma mater, West Springfield High School, to continue the search for creative expression through poetry. Our hope is that among the twenty-three young people who have received this scholarship, one will carry the spark forward to inspire others in the art of poetry."

— Marion Hiller, donor advisor of the John Franklin Hiller Memorial Scholarship Fund and John's mother

DONORS FROM JULY 1, 2015 TO JUNE 30, 2016

become a donor

WAYS TO GIVE SMARTER

Donors can establish funds during their life or through a planned gift such as a bequest in their will. Gifts of cash, cash equivalents, and appreciated marketable securities like stocks, bonds, and mutual funds are always welcome. The Community Foundation also accepts gifts of noncash assets such as closely held corporate stock, partnership interests, IRA's, 401(k)'s, SEP's, real estate, life insurance policies, interests in charitable remainder trusts and charitable lead trusts, and other tangible and intangible property. Choose a fund that works for you.

Donor Fund Options: Donor Advised Funds: For as little as $10,000 you can open a donor advised fund with the Community Foundation. Get an immediate tax deduction for your contribution, then continue to advise the Community Foundation on grant making from the fund. A donor advised fund can be either endowed (limits the amount of grants to 5% of the fund balance each year) or pass through (allows the entire balance, principal plus interest, to be granted out at any time).

Scholarship Funds: Establish a scholarship fund with the Community Foundation and provide educational scholarships. With this type of fund you are investing in your community's future and showing students you care.

Designated Funds: When you open a designated fund at the Community Foundation you identify the organizations to whom grants will be given for the entire duration of your fund.

Did you know that nonprofit organizations and their donors have opened funds here to support their operations? We do all the back-end work to invest the funds and thank their donors. We can even help organizations establish operating endowments to permanently support their mission.

Field of Interest Funds: By establishing a Field of Interest Fund you can target your gift to address needs in an important area of community life. Your gift stays flexible enough to meet community needs in your interest area – even as they change over time.

ABRAHAMS FUND FOR CHILDREN AND YOUTH

Field of Interest Fund at the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia

“After my husband died, I thought about his generous spirit and the importance he placed on charitable giving. I knew he trusted me to continue to support charities he valued and I thought about my own legacy to my community. I donated unrestricted funds to the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia knowing that after I’m gone there will be fresh opportunities to support the areas my husband and I cared about. I gave the Community Foundation my trust as well as funding to carry on into the future.

It was a way to ensure no matter what happens to me, the Foundation will be able to support my community using its best judgment with maximum flexibility.”

– Catherine Abrahams
